

Marines stand at attention over the casket of Cpl. Brett Lundstrom, who was killed in Iraq on January 7, 2006, in front of a tipi at Little Wound School in Kyle, South Dakota, on January 15, 2006. According to Lakota tradition, Lundstrom was put in the tipi over night to communicate with his relatives who have passed before him, who will guide him to the spirit world.